Strange Disappearance of Some Data Relating to Contracts.

General's Office But is Now Missing-Testimony of Dr. De Candry Before Beef Inquiry Court. Washintgon, April 6.-In the army been

"This test was made under the super ision of Celouel John Weston of your de ness."

The testimeny began today with Dr. L. Clifford Cox, an assistant surgeon of the volunteers of the District of Columbia.

He was at Tampa and in Cuba and testified that the command was attacked with diarrhoes to the extent of an epidemic after eating refrigerator beef at both places. After the second attack of this character the regimental surgeon had ordered that the issue of the beef be stopped. When this was dore the diarrhoes coased.

Dr. William De Candry, who has been stopped. When this was dore the diarrhoes ceased.

Dr. William De Candry, who has been cheef eight in the office of the sometimenty general of the war department for twenty years related his connection with the work of letting the beef contracts. At the instance of General Esgan he had first sent out forty or fifty telegrams to dealers influed asking for bids te supply refrigerated beef or for beef on the block, General Esgan having supplied the form. Mr. De Candry had been instructed by General Esgan to prepare the original draft of the contract for the beef supply and after some consideration submitted a draft feeling confident that it was complete. It was then that men whom he understood to be representatives of Swift & Company brought up the questions to as the length of the time the beef should keep after issue.

to be built on shore and in the rear of the moving troops, the intention being to have the beef exposed for a minimum time only. He had at the time pointed out the apparent conflict between the 24 and 32 hour clauses. In one of the revisions General Eagan had entered in his own hand writing a clause referring to the time reading as follows:

"Which shall not be more than 22 hours from the time of stowing the same in such refrigerators."

from the time of stowing the same in such refrigerators."
This clause Mr. De Candry said he had not at the time understood but he had no authority to strike it out.
When the 22 hour clause was inserted General Eagan appeared dubious about it, but said nothing more. Mr. De Candry said that he had been so worried by the apparent inconsistencies in the contract that he had kept all the memoranda relating to the master.
"Are they on file now?" asked Major Lee.

relating to the matter.

"Are they on file now?" asked Major Lee.

"They are not in the file boxes."

The witness then stated in reply to questions that Captain Davis was in charge of these boxes and that Captain Davis was the especial confidante of General Eagan. Asked if he had any reason at the time the contract was drawn to suspect that any of the data had been withheld by Kagan or Davis, Mr. De Candry replied that he had no such suspicion then and that he had none now. His impression was that they were undertaking to do semething which they had not digested sufficiently to know just how they wanted to do it. Major Lee asked Mr. De Candry whether he had evertendered his resignation as an officer of the war department and the witness replied that he had done so.

"I tendered my resignation on the day following General Eagan's appearance before the war commission," he said.

Major Lee was about to proceed with this line of questions when Colonel Davis objected on the ground that the inquiries were not pertinent. Major Lee then withdrew the first question.

Dr. Richard A. Pyles, chief surgeon of the District of Columbia volunteers, testified that refrigerator beef supplied the troops in Cuba had given them dysentery but expressed the opinion that this was due to the fact that they set too much of it. He expressed disapproval of the canned beef. The court then adjourned until to-morrow.
